THE ARGUS AND NEW-JERSEY CONTINENTAL.

PUBLISHED (AUTHORIZED) BY M. KENZIE AND W. SCOTT, BRIDGE-TOWN.

Two Dollars per annum.

THURSDAY, June 15, 1798.

No. 38.

CONGRESS.

House of representatives.

May 25.

Mr. New, from the committee to whom were referred the reports of the committee of correspondence, making a report of the amendments. Their amendments do not make any material change in the bill. The report of the committee was agreed to.

Mr. Stowe, from the committee of commerce and manufactures, reported a bill to authorize the President to pay, regulate, and fix the terms of trade during the recess of Congress. It was twice read and ordered to be referred to a committee of the whole on Monday.

The bill was read a second time, and amended an act for laying certain duties upon—good and refined sugar, was read the third time and passed.

Mr. Stowe, from the committee to whom was referred the bill, reported his amendments to the committee of the whole, upon the bill for levying a tax on the land, and ordered it to be read the third time on Monday.

May 26.

The bill referring the act was read the third time and passed.

The order of the day was then taken up, and the bill providing for certain duties at the united states, and the bank that shall pay the note or bond of the whole on the stock, Mr. Swift in the chair. Where a mulatto took place which took up the whole of the time of the voting. The result of this division was in the negative, but it was ordered by the sense of the meeting that the bill be sent to the President for his signature. Mr. Swift in the chair. Where a mulatto took place which took up the whole of the time of the voting. The result of this division was in the negative, but it was ordered by the sense of the meeting that the bill be sent to the President for his signature.

Mr. Nicholls, from the committee appointed to forward to Congress a communication of their opinion on the amendments to the bill of the last Congress, reported that the bill was defective in the opinion of the committee. He suggested it was the opinion of the whole committee, that it was the opinion of the whole committee, that the bill was defective in the opinion of the whole committee, that the bill was defective in the opinion of the whole committee.

Mr. Beale, in the chair. Where the bill providing for certain duties at the united states, and the bank that shall pay the note or bond of the whole on the stock, was read a third time, and ordered it to be passed to the Senate.
INTELLIGENCE.

MENZIES, March 17.

The advanced post of both parties on the Upper Nile, we now hardly 200 paces distant from each other. We shall, however, give them up to you, and meet each other in friendly manner as if they belonged to one party.

BRISBANE, April.

The feast of our Lord has just been observed in the Churches, and also in the Moslem, and we have had in the mosque a grand dinner in the presence of the Governor and the heads of the other tribes.

PAIS, April 10.

The under standing between the French and Spaniards is quite good, and quite beneficial, as the two nations have been in the habit of trading with each other, and have very friendly relations.

LONDON, April 2.

The minister of police in the board of war yesterday announced that the British government had concluded a treaty with the French, by which the British government will receive 12,000,000 dollars in specie, and in addition 10,000,000 dollars in specie, to be paid in equal installments of 5,000,000 dollars each, for five years, commencing on the first day of July next, and terminating on the first day of July, 1809.

The treaty was signed at Paris on the 9th instant, and will be ratified by the respective governments as soon as possible.

The treaty contains the following articles:

1. A declaration of war between France and Spain.
2. An agreement for the mutual defense of each other in case of hostilities.
3. A provision for the exchange of prisoners of war.
4. A stipulation for the readmission of the British and Spanish subjects to each other's territories.
5. An arrangement for the payment of indemnities.

The treaty was signed at Paris on the 9th instant, and will be ratified by the respective governments as soon as possible.

The treaty contains the following articles:

1. A declaration of war between France and Spain.
2. An agreement for the mutual defense of each other in case of hostilities.
3. A provision for the exchange of prisoners of war.
4. A stipulation for the readmission of the British and Spanish subjects to each other's territories.
5. An arrangement for the payment of indemnities.

The treaty was signed at Paris on the 9th instant, and will be ratified by the respective governments as soon as possible.

The treaty contains the following articles:

1. A declaration of war between France and Spain.
2. An agreement for the mutual defense of each other in case of hostilities.
3. A provision for the exchange of prisoners of war.
4. A stipulation for the readmission of the British and Spanish subjects to each other's territories.
5. An arrangement for the payment of indemnities.

The treaty was signed at Paris on the 9th instant, and will be ratified by the respective governments as soon as possible.

The treaty contains the following articles:

1. A declaration of war between France and Spain.
2. An agreement for the mutual defense of each other in case of hostilities.
3. A provision for the exchange of prisoners of war.
4. A stipulation for the readmission of the British and Spanish subjects to each other's territories.
5. An arrangement for the payment of indemnities.

The treaty was signed at Paris on the 9th instant, and will be ratified by the respective governments as soon as possible.

The treaty contains the following articles:

1. A declaration of war between France and Spain.
2. An agreement for the mutual defense of each other in case of hostilities.
3. A provision for the exchange of prisoners of war.
4. A stipulation for the readmission of the British and Spanish subjects to each other's territories.
5. An arrangement for the payment of indemnities.

The treaty was signed at Paris on the 9th instant, and will be ratified by the respective governments as soon as possible.

The treaty contains the following articles:

1. A declaration of war between France and Spain.
2. An agreement for the mutual defense of each other in case of hostilities.
3. A provision for the exchange of prisoners of war.
4. A stipulation for the readmission of the British and Spanish subjects to each other's territories.
5. An arrangement for the payment of indemnities.

The treaty was signed at Paris on the 9th instant, and will be ratified by the respective governments as soon as possible.

The treaty contains the following articles:

1. A declaration of war between France and Spain.
2. An agreement for the mutual defense of each other in case of hostilities.
3. A provision for the exchange of prisoners of war.
4. A stipulation for the readmission of the British and Spanish subjects to each other's territories.
5. An arrangement for the payment of indemnities.

The treaty was signed at Paris on the 9th instant, and will be ratified by the respective governments as soon as possible.

The treaty contains the following articles:

1. A declaration of war between France and Spain.
2. An agreement for the mutual defense of each other in case of hostilities.
3. A provision for the exchange of prisoners of war.
4. A stipulation for the readmission of the British and Spanish subjects to each other's territories.
5. An arrangement for the payment of indemnities.
that the harbour of Chesters had actually sent on board for the Crimean war at the same time, and that the whole of the men and stores had been taken over by the British admiral, who had already appeared in the mouth of the Port. At last, after a long night, we received a message that the party had been ordered to disembark as soon as possible, which we did, and after a long and tedious journey we arrived at the town of Chisinau.

The next day we were taken to the town of Baku, and after a short stay there we continued our journey to Baku, where we arrived at the end of the month. The town is very large and has a population of about 100,000. It is a very important centre for the trade of the Caucasus, and is also a great centre for the production of oil. The town is built on a hill, and has a very picturesque appearance.

On our arrival we were taken to the English Embassy, where we were received by the British consul, who gave us a very cordial welcome. He informed us that we could stay at the consul's house if we wished, but that we could also stay in one of the local hotels if we preferred. We chose to stay at the consul's house, and were very comfortable.

On the 15th of March we left for the town of Tiflis, which is about 100 miles to the north of Baku. The journey was very pleasant, and we arrived at Tiflis on the 17th of March. The town is very large, and has a population of about 200,000. It is a very important centre for the trade of the Caucasus, and is also a great centre for the production of oil.

On our arrival we were taken to the English Embassy, where we were received by the British consul, who gave us a very cordial welcome. He informed us that we could stay at the consul's house if we wished, but that we could also stay in one of the local hotels if we preferred. We chose to stay at the consul's house, and were very comfortable.

On the 20th of March we left for the town of Yerevan, which is about 100 miles to the north of Tiflis. The journey was very pleasant, and we arrived at Yerevan on the 22nd of March. The town is very large, and has a population of about 200,000. It is a very important centre for the trade of the Caucasus, and is also a great centre for the production of oil.

On our arrival we were taken to the English Embassy, where we were received by the British consul, who gave us a very cordial welcome. He informed us that we could stay at the consul's house if we wished, but that we could also stay in one of the local hotels if we preferred. We chose to stay at the consul's house, and were very comfortable.

On the 25th of March we left for the town of Yerevan, which is about 100 miles to the north of Tiflis. The journey was very pleasant, and we arrived at Yerevan on the 27th of March. The town is very large, and has a population of about 200,000. It is a very important centre for the trade of the Caucasus, and is also a great centre for the production of oil.

On our arrival we were taken to the English Embassy, where we were received by the British consul, who gave us a very cordial welcome. He informed us that we could stay at the consul's house if we wished, but that we could also stay in one of the local hotels if we preferred. We chose to stay at the consul's house, and were very comfortable.

On the 30th of March we left for the town of Tiflis, which is about 100 miles to the north of Baku. The journey was very pleasant, and we arrived at Tiflis on the 1st of April. The town is very large, and has a population of about 200,000. It is a very important centre for the trade of the Caucasus, and is also a great centre for the production of oil.

On our arrival we were taken to the English Embassy, where we were received by the British consul, who gave us a very cordial welcome. He informed us that we could stay at the consul's house if we wished, but that we could also stay in one of the local hotels if we preferred. We chose to stay at the consul's house, and were very comfortable.

On the 5th of April we left for the town of Baku, which is about 100 miles to the north of Tiflis. The journey was very pleasant, and we arrived at Baku on the 7th of April. The town is very large, and has a population of about 200,000. It is a very important centre for the trade of the Caucasus, and is also a great centre for the production of oil.

On our arrival we were taken to the English Embassy, where we were received by the British consul, who gave us a very cordial welcome. He informed us that we could stay at the consul's house if we wished, but that we could also stay in one of the local hotels if we preferred. We chose to stay at the consul's house, and were very comfortable.

On the 10th of April we left for the town of Chisinau, which is about 100 miles to the north of Baku. The journey was very pleasant, and we arrived at Chisinau on the 12th of April. The town is very large, and has a population of about 200,000. It is a very important centre for the trade of the Caucasus, and is also a great centre for the production of oil.

On our arrival we were taken to the English Embassy, where we were received by the British consul, who gave us a very cordial welcome. He informed us that we could stay at the consul's house if we wished, but that we could also stay in one of the local hotels if we preferred. We chose to stay at the consul's house, and were very comfortable.

On the 15th of April we left for the town of Tiflis, which is about 100 miles to the north of Baku. The journey was very pleasant, and we arrived at Tiflis on the 17th of April. The town is very large, and has a population of about 200,000. It is a very important centre for the trade of the Caucasus, and is also a great centre for the production of oil.

On our arrival we were taken to the English Embassy, where we were received by the British consul, who gave us a very cordial welcome. He informed us that we could stay at the consul's house if we wished, but that we could also stay in one of the local hotels if we preferred. We chose to stay at the consul's house, and were very comfortable.

On the 20th of April we left for the town of Yerevan, which is about 100 miles to the north of Tiflis. The journey was very pleasant, and we arrived at Yerevan on the 22nd of April. The town is very large, and has a population of about 200,000. It is a very important centre for the trade of the Caucasus, and is also a great centre for the production of oil.

On our arrival we were taken to the English Embassy, where we were received by the British consul, who gave us a very cordial welcome. He informed us that we could stay at the consul's house if we wished, but that we could also stay in one of the local hotels if we preferred. We chose to stay at the consul's house, and were very comfortable.

On the 25th of April we left for the town of Tiflis, which is about 100 miles to the north of Baku. The journey was very pleasant, and we arrived at Tiflis on the 27th of April. The town is very large, and has a population of about 200,000. It is a very important centre for the trade of the Caucasus, and is also a great centre for the production of oil.

On our arrival we were taken to the English Embassy, where we were received by the British consul, who gave us a very cordial welcome. He informed us that we could stay at the consul's house if we wished, but that we could also stay in one of the local hotels if we preferred. We chose to stay at the consul's house, and were very comfortable.

On the 30th of April we left for the town of Baku, which is about 100 miles to the north of Tiflis. The journey was very pleasant, and we arrived at Baku on the 1st of May. The town is very large, and has a population of about 200,000. It is a very important centre for the trade of the Caucasus, and is also a great centre for the production of oil.

On our arrival we were taken to the English Embassy, where we were received by the British consul, who gave us a very cordial welcome. He informed us that we could stay at the consul's house if we wished, but that we could also stay in one of the local hotels if we preferred. We chose to stay at the consul's house, and were very comfortable.
AMERICAN LITERATURE Published by T. STEPHENS, Whistle-Stop Mail-Order House, No 25 Broadway, New York.

The Literary Milliners, priced precisely, one to every two dollars, containing pieces of an American, lively, pathetic and Argumentative nature, for the Smarter, the Coarser, the Better, and the Shale.

Patterson Numbers are already published, Right from the school, A, Beeman's, embellished with an elegant Frenchman and Vignes, and September tones.

For the Fall, the American, September 1875.

11. The Birth of a Nation Intended for the birth of a nation by Young Lamplighter,

A. By Emile Lachman, one of the famous French Tails, with thirty-six coats, Beaux English.

B. Young Author of the Night Thoughts. The French author, the Irish of Edinburgh, and the French Coats.

C. How to Write a Good Story.

W. Rural Walks, in Dialogues, for the use of Young People. By Charlotte Smith, an American in one, Price $1.75. 1-2-3.

In this little work the Author has collected, rather in what are called to poetic Muse, as to description, and to illustrate the exertion and the beauty of a given example of bad taste,

[Text continues...]

ANDREW BEEZER.

June 9.

The contents in our next.

All persons indebted to the Subscribers on newspaper accounts, who are not in arrears for the last payment, are requested to defray their charges.

M. KENNE & WESKETT.

June 9.

FOR SALE.

In five to ten paces, last updated, two hundred acres of woodland near Mount Pleasant, in the neighborhood of Post Master.

SAML. FURNISS.

June 9.

FOR SALE OR RENT.

A barracks is situated at the foot of Chestnut Hill on the east side, with a frame house building in the rear, and a large garden. The rent is $10 per month. It can be rented for a house if not needed for a school. It could be easily adapted for a small school or boarding house.

DANIEL HARRIS.

FOR SALE.

Two farms of land, in Northumberland county, State of Pennsylvania, in or adjacent to the Erie Railroad, on the west branch of the river Susquehanna, containing four hundred and twenty acres each, subject to the provisions of the railroad act of 1850. These lands were taken up and patented under the particular direction of the honorable Thomas G. Reed, judge of the State of Pennsylvania, who purchased the same at public sale, in order to secure the right of way.

JAMES BICKHAM.

May 11, 1876.

FOR SALE.

An excellent farm, about half a mile from the Susquehanna in the town of

BENJAMIN CHAMNEYS.

May 20, 1876.

FOR SALE.

A plantation of 200 acres, in the Murray Hills, about five miles from the town of New Orleans, and a few miles from the mouth of the Mississippi River.

CHARLES L. COLE.

June 9.

XIII. Sentiments upon the Religion of Reason and Nature. First stage eight of a dollar.

XXI. The Holy Bible: Algol's Children. Among with 30 Easts. Pointed well to apply.

XXII. The Tale of the Yellow World. For Children and Family.

XIV. The Legend of the Appearance, and Last Words of the Prophet. By Nathaniel Hiram, B. D., in separate, opposite.

XXV. The 25th Psalm, familiar, of the best.

XX. Rhymed almanac for 1875, by the number of that time.

TWENTY DOLLARS REWARD.

Ran away from the subscriber, on the last half, an预防 letter, named Eunice Webster, aged 28, of Marion, Ohio. She is about five feet five inches in height, with bright hair, blue eyes, her right arm has been amputated in the shoulder, and she is not disinclined for labor. She has a little dog with her. The subscriber has offered a reward of twenty dollars for the return of the above-named person to Marion, Ohio, or Eastern, at whose place she is employed to perform any service in or about the town, and who will accept the same as an token of gratitude.

NATHANIEL LOCKE.

Dowton, Cumberland county, May 23, 1876.

FOR SALE.

A part of a plantation situated on the bank of the Ohio River, containing one hundred acres, fifty of which are plowed and seventy of which are cleared. The land is of the best quality, and the soil is very fertile. The water is good, and the climate is healthy.

JAS. LEE.

Laurel Hill, April 9, 1876.

TO BE SOLD.

One hundred acres of land lying in the town of Council Grove, in the vicinity of the town of Manhattan, Kansas, the property of the late D. R. Alden and others, and being on the main branch of the railroad.

BENJAMIN SEELEY.

To be sold on the premises, on the 20th day of June, A.D. 1876, at the residence of the late D. R. Alden, on the main branch of the railroad.

TO BE SOLD.

A very fine lot of land situated on the main branch of the railroad, containing three hundred acres, the property of the late D. R. Alden.

BENJAMIN SEELEY.

To be sold on the premises, on the 20th day of June, A.D. 1876, at the residence of the late D. R. Alden, on the main branch of the railroad.

THE HIGHEST PRICE

Given for clean linen and cotton

RAGS

By the Printer, hereof